A list of them is given below. He

of the year for planting and he specially calls the attention of school teachers on Oahu to this chance of beautifying their Progressive Denmark.

Denmark, although a small country, and relatively thinly populated, can certainly lay claim to be the most progressive nation in Europe, and is determined not to permit the grass to grow under its feet. The State schools which the Government has established for popular instruction in the most advantageous methods of making butter and agricultural and farm produce, which constitute the staple industry of the kingdom, have already achieved a success the fame of which extends throughout Europe, and even to such far-off countries as Japan and Siam. The construction of the Kiel Canal by the Germans has had its counterpart in the organization of a magnificent free port at Copenhagen, and now within the last ten days a railroad ferry line has been established from the Danish capital to Malmoe, in Sweden, by means of which a tourist can travel all the way from Cadiz, Spain, or Constantinople, in Turkey, to the north-most point of Norway and Sweden without leaving the train—Exchange.
